On most farms, the Machinery Storage building is a busy “hub” of activity. Cleary offers a wide variety of options to let you plan your building your way for a smooth flow of traffic. High-clearance all steel endwall and sidewall doors open wide for easy machinery movement, the doors roll smoothly in the self-cleaning tracks. Roof trusses are designed in a variety of clear spans up to 100' wide, which allows you to design a building to fit on any site.

Machinery Storage buildings can benefit further with the addition of overhangs on the side and end walls, eavelite and other options which contribute to both form and function. So whether your building is for Agricultural or Commercial use, count on Cleary Building Corp. to professionally engineer and expertly construct a virtually maintenance-free structure that will serve your needs economically, even after years of hard use.
